

NEXTGEN RISE ACADEMY

Institutional Profile & Programs Overview

About NextGen Rise Academy

NextGen Rise Academy is an online training institution offering practical, career-focused digital skills courses to students, job seekers, entrepreneurs, and professionals. The academy was formerly known as Bright Emerald Computer Academy and officially changed its name and logo to NextGen Rise Academy, effective 26 July 2026. All academic programs, services, operations, and future engagements are now conducted under the NextGen Rise Academy name and identity.

The new identity is reflected in the academy's logo, which depicts a growing tree set against a sunrise and green landscape — a symbol of growth, renewal, and the rise of a new generation of digitally skilled learners. NextGen Rise Academy operates under the sponsorship and management of its own leadership team, led by Managing Director Emmanuel Sebit J., and delivers its programs fully online, making training accessible to learners regardless of location.

This transition affects only the academy's name and brand identity. Its commitment to quality instruction, learner support, and practical, real-world skills training continues without interruption.

On its official Facebook page, NextGen Rise (based in Zaipi, Uganda, and listed as a youth organization) describes itself as a movement that helps young individuals rise above challenges, unlock their potential, and become future leaders — a mission that extends beyond computer training into broader youth empowerment.

About the Founder

NextGen Rise Academy is led by Emmanuel Sebit J., who serves as Managing Director. He signs the academy's official certificates of completion and oversees the institution's programs, administration, and strategic direction, including its recent transition from Bright Emerald Computer Academy to NextGen Rise Academy.

Note: beyond his name and role as Managing Director, no additional independently verifiable biographical information about the founder was found online. If you'd like a fuller founder profile (background, photo, quote, years of experience), please share those details and I will incorporate them.

Our Mission

To equip students, job seekers, entrepreneurs, and professionals with practical, in-demand digital and computer skills through accessible, high-quality online training — empowering learners to build real-world capabilities and improve their career and business opportunities.

Our Vision

To be a leading academy in nurturing a next generation of digitally skilled, innovative, and future-ready individuals — empowering learners across communities to rise through knowledge, skills, and opportunity.

Courses Offered

NextGen Rise Academy offers a broad range of computer and digital skills courses, including:

- Graphic Design
- Database Management
- Advanced Excel
- Power BI
- Python Programming
- Data Analytics Skills
- Basics of Web Development
- Other computer software applications

Training Programs

Computer Training and Programming Program (Online)

The academy's flagship offering is its Online Computer Training Program, designed to equip learners with practical digital and professional skills that are highly demanded in today's job market. It is open to students, job seekers, entrepreneurs, and professionals seeking to build real-world skills and improve their career opportunities. The program is delivered entirely online.

Python Programming & Web Development Course

A structured course covering Python fundamentals, data analysis, web development basics, and problem-solving. Learners who successfully complete the course receive a Certificate of Completion signed by the Managing Director, recognizing their demonstrated proficiency in these areas.

Upon completion of a course, graduates are awarded an official NextGen Rise Academy certificate that can support job applications, freelance work, and further study.

Enrollment Process

Prospective learners can join NextGen Rise Academy's programs by following these steps:
